Hottest SC Convention In Many Years

Rudolph Michetti of Lac la Biche To Contest SC Nomination Saturday

Rudolph Michetti of Lac la Biche, Improvement District foreman for the department of highways, will be a contestant at the Social Credit nominating convention to be held on Saturday, May 2, in Memorial Hall.

Born in Italy, Mr. Michetti came to Canada in 1917, settling with his parents at Hylo. He homesteaded with his father until he acquired a quarter section of his own.

He continued to farm until 1942, spending many winters doing bush work and logging, and from 1924 to 1926 took a mechanical engineering course at the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art.

He married Pierina Marchesi in 1931 and they raised seven boys and three girls. One boy was killed two years ago during service with the RCAF.

Mr. Michetti moved his family to Fort McMurray in 1942 and worked with the Edmonton Oil Co. as leading hand in mechanical and millwright for three years. He then moved to Lac la Biche and started the Northern Garage and Machine Shop, selling out after he contracted corbon monoxide poisoning.

Several years later he was able to return to work and joined the staff of the department of highways.

Mr. Michetti has been active in the Social Credit League since 1935 and has acted as an executive much of the time. He was vice-president of the constituency from 1948 to 1954 and president in 1954.

"The district," said Mr. Michetti, "is a pioneer district and should have a man on the government side of the house. I've always been interested in poor people and I believe it takes a man like me to represent them well because of the understanding I have of their problems.

"I've done farming, fished, trapped, worked in lumber camps, at mechanical work and I know their problems. That's why I'm letting my name stand for nomination."

Walter Ilnicki Of Grassland Allows Name To Stand For Socred Nomination

Walter J. Ilnicki of Grassland will stand for nomination as Social Credit candidate in Lac la Biche riding at the convention to be held Saturday, May 2.

WALTER ILNICKI

Mr. Ilnicki is a former member of the school board, having served three years before his term expired last December. He is a former secretary-treasurer of the Grassland Rural Electrification Association and held that post for three years.

Mr. Ilnicki was born at Blue Jay, and received his high school education at Grassland. He took an agricultural course at Olds and graduated from the University of Alberta in May, 1955, with a bachelor of commerce degree.

For three years, he has managed Grassland Sales and Service for his father, and now is in partnership in this business with John Murowchuk. He married Doreen Fleming and they have one boy, Randy.

In stating his reasons for letting his name stand, Mr. Ilnicki said that he felt qualified because of the great deal of experience he has had in handling public affairs.

He said that having grown up on the farm, having sought an understanding of agricultural problems through educational training, and having been in business in the district, he has a better understanding of the needs of the people in the Lac la Biche constituency. And he's also a firm believer in Social Credit policy.

Old Timers Fight Skeleton Lake Fire

BOYLE — On Sunday, April 19, some of the members of the Old Timers' Association were fighting fire on their property at Skeleton Lake, carlessly set by a person or persons, near the Boy Scout camp.

Fortunately the wind died down and no damage was done to the cabins along the lake shore. Unfortunately about 16 acres of green trees were burned.

This should serve as a warning to all campers to be careful all fires are out before leaving.

Recommendation On Gas By Town Engineers Rejected By Council

The town council of Lac la Biche at its regular meeting heard a report from the engineers in charge of the gas franchise for the town. The engineers recommended in their report that the franchise for the gas line be awarded to Northland Utilities.

The council met this recommendation with their own proposals for the town taking over and operating the gas franchise. The council was not entirely in agreement with the engineers' report.

The points brought out by the council are to be investigated and the engineers are to review their report and are to again meet with the council.

A further meeting will be held in Edmonton with members of the Public Utilities Commission and government officials and three members from the Lac la Biche town council either this coming Friday or next Monday all depending upon the earliest possible time to hold such meeting. The council members appointed to interview the government officials are Messrs. Tkachuk, Maccagano and Mayor C. Hamar.

COUNTY OF ATHABASCA

Johnson Grass Is Not Suitable For Alberta Agriculture

By Hans Armfelt, Field Supervisor

ATHABASCA — Here in the Agricultural Service Board office it has been brought to our attention that farmers in the Boyle and Lac la Biche areas of the County are buying Sorghum Alum (Johnson Grass). It seems a shame that farmers of this County are spending good money on a product not recommended for Alberta conditions.

Let me repeat here what has been written about Johnson Grass by the Department of Agriculture in Edmonton. On March 6, in an article headed "Not Recommended" the Farm Notes stated:

High pressure salesmanship and the desire of farmers to produce marketable crops appears to be a profitable venture on the part of some salesmen who have more interest in the sale than they have in the crop.

It has come to the attention of this branch, reports Alberta's Field Crop Commissioner A. M. Wilson, that Sorghum Alum is being pedalled in Alberta. This grass is supposedly a hybrid between sorghum and Johnson grass. The latter is a prohibitive noxious weed and sorghum is a crop that is confined largely to the southern corn belt areas of the United States. The hybrid is a tall course growing grass which may have possibilities in the Argentine, South Africa, New Zealand or the southern States. In Canada, however, the chance of survival is very improbable. If a mixture of Johnson grass were present in the seed it could mean the introduction of a new noxious weed.

Experimental work to date, says Mr. Wilson, would indicate that our present grass and legume mixtures are much more suited to the needs of farmers here than is this uncertain crop that could mean new weed problems.

Then, as an indication of how seriously the Department views this whole matter, another article on the same subject was published April 10 in Farm Notes. Here it is:

SORGHUM ALMUM

Travelling salesmen for Sorghum Almum have used glowing phrases to describe the virtues of this southern grass. According to these men and the literature they distribute Sorghum Almum is a wonder grass, the equal of which has never been heard of before.

They fail to mention, however, that none of these claims can be substantiated by any experimental data under Alberta conditions. Nor is any mention made of the fact that in the state of Washington, Sorghum Almum has been placed on the primary (prohibitive) noxious weed seeds list, effective April 1, 1958.

Farmers should bear these facts in mind when considering buying seed of an unproven grass at a high price from an over enthusiastic salesman, advises O. G. Bratvold, Supervisor of Crop Improvement Service, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

I can only re-iterate what the Department of Agriculture in Edmonton has said about Johnson Grass and urge farmers of the Athabasca County to save their money.

MORE ABOUT

SEX IN MARRIAGE

By Dr. Walter C. Alvarez

Emeritus Member, Division of Medicine, Mayo Clinic
And Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

PART 13

In the series "How To Get Along With People"

I my experience, both men and women who are caught in a marriage in which there is little or no sex at all, accept the situaiton fairly uncomplainingly if other phases of their life together are satisfactory and happy. I have known hundreds of couples who told me that they had not lived sexually together for years, perhaps because of the wife's chronic illness or frailness or frigidity, and yet they appeared to be in love and happy.

Dr. W. C. Alvarez

This, of course, does not mean that sex is not an extremely important factor in making marriages happy, or that lack of it causes millions of divorces. All I am saying is that still there are many happy marriages without much, if any, sex life.

As Dr. Alfred Kinsey has shown, there are many very unhappy marriages with plenty of "sex," but of course no real love with it. One must not assume that the sexual life of a couple must be unsatisfactory because they are not in love. Both may want only physical sex and may be fairly well satisfied with that.

Because so many patients have told me of unhappy honeymoons I think it well for most brides and grooms to see a physician before the wedding. For the bride, the physical distresses that sometimes go with the first days of marriage can easily be obviated if a gynecologist (specialist in diseases of women) will dilate the woman. Then there is less likelihood of there being pain and revulsion and disappointment.

In discussing the problems of honeymooners, most writers have spoken of the great need for knowledge and kindness and tact on the part of the bridegroom. Unfortunately, they forget that even more may depend, at first, on the knowledge and good sense and kindness and tact on the part of the bride.

I wish all brides could read a remarkable book by Maxine Davis, entitled "The Sexual Responsibility of Women".

Mrs. Davis discusses all the various ways in which a woman can wreck her marriage through sexual inadequacies, or through a lack of sympathy with her husband when, perhaps because of shyness or fear of failure, he at first fails.

RESPECTS WIFE'S "TIDES"

The wife may fail to achieve satisfaction because of her lack of knowledge of the great differences in the sexual appetites and tendencies of different men and women.

There are times in the month when a woman wants affection, and there are times when she resents being asked for it. The wise husband despects these tides.

The husband who fails to respect his wife's feelings in this matter often outrages her and causes her to become bitter at him. Sometimes, the difficulty is that the woman "just isn't in the mood". Many women are particularly resentful when their husband comes to them without any sign of love. They say they hate to be "used" and one cannot blame them.

Much as we may sympathize with a sensitive woman who protests her husband's lack of understanding and forbearance in these matters, we must remind her that many and many a wife loses her good husband because she was too insistent that she "had a right to her own body".

HATES HIMSELF

A wiser, a kinder, and more loving woman would have said to herself, "True, I may not desire sex now, but he does, and he is good and kind and generous, so why not put myself out for a few minutes to give him pleasure and to keep him loving and happy. Why repulse him and make him ashamed and humiliated, and perhaps sullen and resentful?"

What is sad is that, in thousands of cases, the woman gives in, but in doing a nice thing she does not do it nicely. She is so unpleasant or passive or obviously put upon that the man gets little pleasure, and hates himself afterward.

The result sometimes is the development of impotence in the man; or he moves to another room in the house, or he starts looking around for someone who will at least seem to like and love and appreciate him. Later, his wife will be unable to understand how it happened that another woman —some "cat"—got him.

MUST GIVE FREELY

As a physician, I see so many men and women who, in sex, cannot be generous. One or the other holds back, and takes all happiness out of the relationship. Some, of course, have the idea that sex must not be enjoyed, and some have religious objections to it.

I can still see the faces of the young minister and his sweet wife who came in to see me because their marriage was going on the rocks. The wife was very loving but the husband had the idea that sex should be only for procreation —perhaps once every two years!

I gave him a good talking to, telling him that I was sure that the Good Lord would not have given loving people such a strong hunger if He hadn't intended them to satisfy it. Next day, a very happy couple came in to thank me. They were holding hands!

RESPECT PRIVACIES

Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, in her remarkable book "Gift from the Sea," says that we should all face the fact that we do not love always in the same way. We must try to be ready to accept love when it wells up in the other person, and at other times we must accept our partner's desire for solitude and silence. Every intimacy should be tempered by a lightness of touch.

Rainer Maria Rilke, the German lyric poet, said, "A complete sharing between two people is an impossibility." Even the most loving of persons should have privacies that are never invaded.

Many questions should never be asked, or certainly not asked persistently, if it is obvious that the person questioned does not wish to answer. Many a foolish brigegroom has kept trying to learn every detail of his bride's previous love experience, only to have his inquisitiveness boomerang against him later, when what he learned made him very jealous and unhappy.

COUNTY OF ATHABASCA

Little Change From Last Year In Budget Presented By School Committee

ATHABASCA — The April meeting of the Council of Athabasca was mainly concerned with the budget debate. After opening preliminaries, minutes, etc., the School Committee presented their budget to the council for discussion and approval.

This did not differ much from last year's budget and after thoroughly going over all expenditures and anticipated receipts it was adopted unanimously.

Following the adoption of the budget as presented by the school committee, the council met C. W. White, and Walter Discotch, of the Teamsters' Union of Edmonton, who said they appeared on behalf of the bus drivers and bus operators of the county.

Since the gentlemen could present no documents showing them as the representatives of the bus drivers, and since the bus drivers had not notified the county in regard to the union, the council was loath to accept the bargaining authority of the delegation on face value.

In reply to a question as to what the delegation wanted, the reply was that they were asking for increases and proper working conditions and signed agreements on a 1, 2, or 3 year basis.

After an informal discussion of three quarters of an hour, it was decided the delegation would leave their report with the council who would set up a committee to study same. After study, the committee would report to council and get in touch with the delegation.

It was reported by a member of the school division to call the drivers in for a meeting after the close of the session of the legislature to discuss changes in the Highway Traffic Act, divisional regulations, etc., and that the date of this meeting has not yet been set.

It was moved such a meeting be held, that the necessary arrangements be made and the meeting be set for April 28 in the gymnasium of the brick school to discuss schedules and other problems.

A number of delegations followed the first one. A request for straightening a road in division 6 was replied to by the councillor who said he was making a recommendation in his report to the committee.

Request was granted for the use of the Grassland school gym for the graduation banquet.

A salesman for culverts was told that council had ordered for their immediate needs. A request for a road in division 1 was held till the council could look the situation over. A delegation will inspect a road in division 6 said to be badly flooded in an effort to clear up the matter.

An explanation of what is meant by Tax Consolidation and how it works was given to a ratepayer. An application was made to purchase some tax sale but was withdrawn when the conditions of sale were explained.

Doug Foster, representing R Angus (Alberta) Ltd., interviewed the council in regard to a D7 rented for use in division 6 during the winter.

An increase in contract price was granted the contract papers due to the increased material they will now be carrying in relation to that carried under the contrac with the M.D. Price was set a $1.30.

Discussion of the budget as presented by the public works committee followed. After a detailed discussion of almost two hours the public works budget was adopted and meeting adjourned to reconvene on Friday.

The first item on Friday morning was putting the two main budgets together, adding the Health Unit, hospital, Agricultural Service Board, to make the county budget.

At 11:25 a.m. the budget as presented by the various committees was approved and the mill rate set at 66 mills (tne same as 1958 of which 26 is for municipal, 33 fo school, 1 for Athabasca Hospital 4 for hospitalization grants, 2 fo health unit, 2 for Grassland nurs (for which only the Grassland area is assessed).

Business form the minutes was then discussed, salaries were set and other routine business considered.

After reconvening after noon, M. G. Gault, county supervisor of schools, was requested by Chairman Aloisio to explain points of organization, division of duties of various committees, to discuss procedure under the Act.

Mr. Gault had a well prepared agenda, with references to the proper acts and sections of acts The council went over the section clause by clause, deciding on jurisdiction of each committee, and where in its work matters shoul be left to the county council.

It was decided to form the public works machinery into fou units, each with its own foreman Under present plans, there wil be one unit north of the river, on for divisions 1, 5, and 8; and two units in the remaining divisions numbers 2, 3, 5, 6 and 7. Owing to the geography of the area, it was not considered practical to include division 9 with any other division.

A committee was appointed to consider appointment of an auditor for the county.

The committee on shop personnel reported Albert Brauer is shop foreman, Harold Wiltse is custodian and general worker, Matt

Oil Sands Permits Sold For $55,933

Despite the interest in the development of the Athabasca oil sands of northern Alberta, bids were received on only one of two parcels of land in the area which the government offered for sale last week.

Cities Service Athabasca) Inc. paid $55,933 for bituminous sands prospecting permits on area No. 5. No bids were made on area No. 6.

The reason for the lack of interest appears to be that both areas are on the fringe of the main oil deposits. Both were under permit before but the holder did not convert them to leases.

Area No. 5 is comprised of 57½ sections of land in the northern part of the oil sands area.

Cities Service Research and Development Co., an affiliate of Cities Service (Athabasca) Inc., is assembling a pilot plant about 25 miles north of McMurray with which it hopes to uncover a way of extracting oil from the sands on a commercial scale.

Royalite Oil, which is also interested in developing surface deposits in the area, holds leases covering 49,7888 acres and has a working agreement with Cities Service on development.

Little Change From Last Year In Budget Presented By School Committee

Faragini is mechanic. Council approved the action.

Due to conflicting days for two committee meetings, the following days were set:

County council, third Thursday; School commitee, second Thursday; Agricultural Service Board, first Monday; Municipal committee, first Tuesday; Hospital committee, first Thursday of each month.

Two letters were read regarding engineers, and engineering students and the possibilities of hiring one for work in the county during the summer. A motion to hire such a man for the summer, who would be expected to lay out a long term program, broken down into projects, was defeated.

The Penalties Bylaw (5%) and Discount Bylaw (3% in 60 days from date of mailing notices 2% in 90 days) were discussed and left as they were.

A lengthy discussion ensued on business tax. The old Personal Property Tax has been abolished and replaced by Business Tax. There were two methods, one on rental basis and one on square foot basis. The square foot method of assessment has almost universal usage throughout the province and it was adopted for the county for this year.

The Agricultural Service Board requested the projected mileage for weed spraying, which figures were furnished. The board also asked for signs setting the boundaries of the county as a Brucellosis Restricted Area.

A rather heavy file of correspondence was discussed, some dealt with and some left for further discussion.

Applications were read and considered for machine operators and some men were approved for each division.

A request was made to set up a payroll account for salaried employees in order to facilitate prompt payment at the end of the month. A petty cash account was authorized.

Twelve applications to purchase tax sale parcels were considered; a consolidation granted; hay and timber permits granted.

A request from civil defence coordinator H. V. Bayliss for an appointee to the committee and for a candidate for a radiation and orientation course in Edmonton were left for later discussion.

A report was made on the loss by fire of a motor grade in division 5. Considerable discussion ensued, following the report. The machine was purchased new in 1947. The main questions asked were what caused it? Is it worth fixing? Should we trade it off and buy another?

Motion was made to tear out the motor, find out what is wrong with it and if deemed advisable send it in to Edmonton to be fixed.

HOW FERTILIZER BOOSTS your PROFITS from CATTLE!

YOU CAN MAKE UP TO $32.00 PER ACRE MORE

Test work on the Prairies has shown that increased forage yields from pasture and hayland can easily be obtained with the use of commercial fertilizer. By applying fertilizer at recommended rates, yields could be doubled; 150 lbs. per acre of Nitraprills (Ammonium Nitrate — 33.5-0-0) could bring an increase of 1 ton dry hay per acre. Corresponding increases could also be realized from fertilizing pasture.

In the table below, note that the increased return figure takes the cost of fertilizer into consideration. An increased return of $32.00 per acre is certainly worthwhile.

Fertilizer per acre ...	150 lbs. Nitraprills	(Cost $6.50) *
Increased forage yield per acre	(dry hay basis)...	1 Ton
Additional Beef Produced ...	200 lbs.	(Worth $39.00)
YOUR INCREASED RETURN PER ACRE ...		$32.50

* Fertilizer cost figures per acre are approximate.

Your net profit per acre – your profit after you've deducted the cost of growing the crop – gets a real boost from Elephant Brand Fertilizer! This applies to any crop – any soil. Your Elephant Brand dealer is shown below. Contact him today!

Miss Sherill E. Lozinski Weds In Pretty Church Ceremony At Hylo

HYLO — The Hylo Church was the scene for a pretty wedding, April 17, when Miss Sherill Elizabeth Lozinski and Mr. Johannes W. Verboom pledged marriage vows.

Rev. S. L. Munroe officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lozinski and the second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Verboom of Holland. Mrs. Gordon McEachern presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of traditional white nylon net over taffeta with two bands of fine lace on the bouffant skirt. The fitted bodice of lace featured a dainty gathered band of nylon chiffon encircling the rounded neckline, and lace lily-point sleeves. Her chapel-length veil was held in place by a tiara glittering with sequins and rhinestones. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls and matching earrings, gift of the groom, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red velvet roses with streamers and buds.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Louis Turgeon and she wore a mint-green cocktail-length gown of nylon chiffon with tiny lace ruffles covering the skirt. She wore a picture hat to match.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Keehn, Miss Audrey Lozinski, both cousins of the bride, and Miss Jean Nimchuk who all wore floor-length gowns of net over taffeta matching jackets in coral pink, yellow and blue, respectively. They wore white headdresses and carried nosegays of white carnations and lilies-of-the-valley.

The little flower girl, Miss Debra Lozinski, sister of the bride, wore a pink floor-length gown of net over taffeta with a fitted bodice of satin and a headdress similar to the bridesmaids. She carried a white basket of sweetheart roses. Page boy was Neil Turgeon, son of matron of honour. He carried a white satin heart-shaped cushion decorated with sweetheart roses and streamers.

Mr. David Lozinski, brother of the bride, Mr. Ozzie, Mr. Henry Evers, and Mrs. Louis Turgeon were the grooms attendants and were all dressed in charcoal grey suits and white shirts, similar to the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lozinski chose a turquoise blue Trio Roledo dress with duster to match and wore a corsage of red roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception for over 300 guests was held in the Hylo Hall which was tastefully decorated with pink and blue streamers.

The bride's table was draped with white bridal cloth and centered with a miniature wedding cake flanked by tall white candles entwined with red sweetheart roses and green fern. Bouquets of roses and sweetpeas attractively decorated the guests tables.

Rev. Munroe proposed the toast to the bride and the groom replied. During the reception a telegram was read by Rev. Munroe from Miss Grace Grandish, who is attending the University of Vancouver, B.C. and was a school friend of the bride.

A presentation of many gifts and over $400 in cash followed, after which there was a dance with music by Russel Kulchitsky's orchestra of Smoky Lake. At midnight a buffet supper was served and dancing continued until the wee hours of the morning.

Festivities continued the next day when lunch was served to relatives and a number of close friends who came to look at the lovely gifts and to enjoy a good old fashioned Barn Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Verboom will make their home in Edmonton at 10803-108 Street.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Nimchuk of Redwater; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Maccagno of Lac la Biche; Mr. Nick Ouchar Sr. of Whitehorse; Mr. Hugo Coli of Athabasca; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lozinski, Mr. Andy Lozinski, Miss Hazel Rogio, Miss Pat Zupichinsky, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Gillesea, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nakonetzny and son Nick Mrs. Nick Fomuk, Mr. M. Coll dark cottons are popular for spring and summer wear but many warm weather dress styles are not cut to be worn with dress shields. Perspiration stains and discoloration of dark cotton sometimes results. Here are a few suggestions to help you deal with stains on washable cottons.

The fresher the stain, the better your chances for removing it. Pressing a dress that is even slightly stained may set the stain and cause more discoloration. First, try washing thoroughly in cool water, then rub soap or synthetic detergent well into it. If the fabric has discolored try sponging a fresh stain with a littte vinegar and water solution; for an older stain try a little ammonia and water. This may help restore the color. Rinse thoroughly.

Read carefully and save tags on ready-to-wear and yard goods. Some dark cottons carry a label saying that the dye is fast to perspiration. Other labels give facts about both the fabric and its finish that will be helpful when you need to remove a stain at home.

A bulletin on "Stain Removel" can be obtained from this office.

McMurray Tar Sands Blast Could Be Costly

OTTAWA — If an atom bomb can solve the riddle of northern Alberta's oil sands, it still might take some 10,000,000 nuclear blasts to extract oil from all of the 17,000 square miles of the sands, a federal scientist said.

John Convey, director of the federal mines branch, gave this figure to the Commons mining committee in elaborating on a United States oil company's plan to set off a test explosion underground aimed at melting out the heavy tar-like oil deposits.

"That seems like an awful lot of explosives," he said. "But it's not going to be done overnight."

ATTEMPTS FAILED

Other attemps over 40 years to find an economic way of extracting the oil have failed. Still locked in the Athabasca sands are a potential 300,000,000,000 barrels — almost double world's total known reserves.

Dr. Convey, head of a government - industry committee investigating the feasibility of the A-bomb test, told the committee a 10-kiloton bomb of the type envisaged for commercial extraction now costs about $1,000,000. A kiloton is the equivalent of 1,000 tons of TNT.

If nuclear mining methods become practicable, he said, Canada should consider manufacturing the nuclear explosives itself.

He agreed with committee chairman J. W. Murphy (PC—Lambton West) that it could mean a $10,000,000,000 industry.

But speaking to reporters afterwards Dr. Convey qualified his statements, saying the amounts could be considerably smaller.
